HUNVRE DIHUN À SAINT-GOUVRY

Situated between Loudéac and the medieval cities of Josselin and Pontivy, Hunvre Dihun is a comfortably furnished Breton cottage and an ideal base for exploring the Nantes to Brest canal and beautiful Brittany and its rugged coastline (45min from north or south beaches).

10 min from Loudéac's swimming pool (water slide, river rapids, paddling pool for tiny tots, aquatic area of 700m<sup>2</sup>, jacuzzi, solarium, bar and snack). Within 2 min from shops, canoeing, fishing and nice walks along Rohan's pond and ancient market place.

Saint-Gouvry, a typical small Breton village

In the old days, people used to pray Saint-Gouvry at the fountain for healing and also to ask for rain ! Saint-Gouvry's church is one of the last Breton churches to have kept its cemetery around it.

Inside the church, the stained glass windows (designated as a historical monument) have the coats of arms of the Brittany and the Rohan family.
